Clearly Shows We Have Essentials For Winning War

(The Financial Post)

We can win this war because we've got what it takes to win—man power, machine materials and a rich, rich chutney to convert them.

Our war sides had an enormous staff in the conversion of their economies to a war basis. But we are going at an ever accelerating rate.

This is the inescapable conclusion from an exhaustive study of the war. The Financial Post of available data on material resources and their utilization.

Here are some facts:

1. $22 billion of war equipment is in course from the British Empire and the United States this year. Next year's figure will be over $30 billion above that. Germany's own total war expenditure was $12 billion. No one knows what the rest got out of "occupied" Europe and Italy.

2. Germany operates in an "economy of scarcity" being short of such materials as gasoline, lubricants, machine tools, textiles, fuel, but she apparently isn't yet in an "economy of shortage."

3. Germany has worked "wonders" with her policy of substitution and has produced synthetic rubber, synthetic gasoline, synthetic oil, synthetic cotton, synthetic wool, synthetic silk, synthetic leather, synthetic paper, synthetic food, synthetic clothing, synthetic housing, synthetic furniture, synthetic everything.

4. The British nation and the United States are now approaching the combined synthetic output of Germany and Italy and Europe. A year from now, the U.S. schedule will be 4,000 planes a month, approximately equal to the largest estimates of the German output.

5. Air crew training plans of the U.S. for current year will turn out at least four times as many trained pilot navigators, gunners, bombardiers, etc., as Germany.

6. U.S. ship deliveries are just a matter of days. In 1942, 100,000 ship deliveries will be about six million deadweight tons. At least two million tons of ship tonnage will be added to this from Empire sources.

7. Germany and Italy still need a number of submarines and warplanes in commission.

8. In all other land vessels the Dominion lead. Britain alone had 100 more fighting ships commissioned at January 1 this year, excluding submarines, than Germany and Italy combined. And the Empire's U.S.A. are building new navies at a prodigious pace.

The Sailor's Vocabulary

Only The Initiated Know What

Many Of The Words Mean Nicknames in the navy admit of no trifles no embellishments. Sometimes their meanings are applied, especially to those unaccustomed to the sea.

The surgeon in naval practice is usually designated as "pilot" or "old doctor." The pilot's cabin is usually referred to as the "devil's den" or "pilot's den."

The British Empire, the United States and Russia are dominant in all of them in the naval world.

More than this Britain and her allies have access to additional supplies from unoccupied countries.

The Germany has nearly 40 per cent of its oil and iron, thanks to her conquests.

The Financial Post reveals that the British Empire alone has an industrial capacity greater than that of Germany and all other powers.

The combined industrial capacity of the British Empire and the United States and Russia is three and a half times as great as that of Hitler's Germany.

Germany faces a 15 million ton deficit in iron and steel. It lacks the materials required to turn them into weapons.

Germany is virtually unable to supply its tanks, its guns and its aircraft. Her admirals lack the advantage of the high cost of production of our ships, tanks and aircraft.

Germany has lost out with its policy of substitution. Having no oil, it has had to produce synthetic oil, synthetic gasoline, synthetic cotton, synthetic wool, synthetic silk, synthetic leather, synthetic paper, synthetic food, synthetic clothing, synthetic housing, synthetic furniture, synthetic everything.

The British nation and the United States are now approaching the combined synthetic output of Germany and Italy and Europe. A year from now, the U.S. schedule will be 4,000 planes a month, approximately equal to the largest estimates of the German output.

COASTAL DEFENDERS ARE READY

Hitler Still in Charge But Beginning To Suffer Edginess

John Gordon in the London Evening Standard says that Hitler is still in charge but beginning to suffer edginess.

Have you noticed a curious development in Germany recently? Apart from the fact that Hitler is never seen in a lead ladder in the Reichstag, he is never seen in the Reichstag, he is never seen in the Reichstag.

What is happening? I make a guess that Hitler is suffering from the edginess that comes to all dictators in war. As soon as the armies begin to move, power passes from the dictator to the generals.

Hitler is still powerful, very powerful, but he begins to ponder his position to his generals. And if his generals have serious reservations in their minds, it will pass on to the generals.

His army has won a general's war, but it has not won a tactical war. It has not won a tactical war. It has not won a tactical war.

We need a war with it. It is better to have a war with it. It is better to have a war with it.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

A total of 600 enemy planes have been destroyed by anti-aircraft fire over Britain since the war began, the war office stated.

The Italian cabinet approved measures authorizing all "enemy" aircraft to be shot down.

The Irish government order relating to the ban on the sale of a head weekly irrespective of age has gone into effect.

Irish politicians and state have now voluntarily contributed a total of £2,000,000 (£1,500,000 for the purchase of armaments for the Irish Free State).

Pls. L. F. W. Broadhead of Pittsburgh, Pa., has been awarded the first prize for his work.

The British House of Commons in committee agreed to further supplementary vote of credit of $4,400,000 for war purposes.

A military agreement between the British and the Czech government in London was concluded by General Ignace Czech commander-in-chief.

The Dominion bureau of statistics in its first estimate of Canadian wheat production in 1941 placed the crop at 74,770,000 bushels compared with the 1940 estimate of 61,130,000 bushels in 1940.

Canada's Honey Crop

Reporters from Alberta indicate that the honey yield for that province is over 300,000 pounds this year which is 10 per cent higher than the record crop of 1939. Production in Saskatchewan was well above the average for about 4,000,000 pounds. Manitoba crop is estimated at 7,000,000 pounds. Ontario is one-third below at 15,000,000 pounds.

With a smaller crop and an export demand, more or less uncertain at present, there is a prospect of a tight market in Canada finding a market a somewhat better price.

Small Is Competition

Canada's close contract with Great Britain asks for the shipment during the current production year of 30,000 long tons. This looks like a lot, but it is compared with the 1940 volume which New Zealand has agreed to ship.

One of the things Britain needs from Canada is more bacon. Another is more cheese. Still another is more eggs.
